Let Us Reintroduce Our Head Chef: Gareth Ward

At The Horseshoes, our kitchen is led by Head Chef Gareth Ward, whose passion for seasonal British cooking sits at the heart of everything we do. Gareth focuses on creating dishes that celebrate the very best ingredients available throughout the year, working closely with trusted suppliers to bring fresh, high-quality produce to the table.

His approach is simple: let great ingredients speak for themselves. The menu at our gastropub near Ashbourne changes with the seasons, allowing Gareth and the team to showcase locally sourced meats, fresh fish and vibrant vegetables in dishes that are both refined and comforting.

Whether you're joining us for a relaxed lunch, a special dinner or one of our popular tasting evenings, Gareth's cooking reflects the ethos of The Horseshoes — thoughtful, flavour-led dishes served in a welcoming Derbyshire countryside setting.

We're incredibly proud to have Gareth leading the kitchen and look forward to sharing many more seasonal creations with our guests.
